

Mail and collaboration server

Can your mail server do this?

document management

sync with mobile, pda, BlackBerry

Thursday, February 23 201

web based meeting planning

I think we should not go proposal as it woul

Jabber instant messaging

Your web interface is excellent! I don't think I will ever use an ordinary e-mail client again!

Erol Haagenrud - Norway

I have been running/testing three windows based products side by side and have to say that for the features, reliability, pricing and hardware requirements, DeskNow is way ahead of the others for our use.

Simon Holden - UK

Just wanted to let you guys know that DeskNow is a killer product! The features coupled with the ease of use, implementation, support and "bang for the buck" are outstanding and definitely superior to your competitors.

Greg Fountain - USA

Features

fully featured mail server (IMAP, POP3, SMTP, SSL, advanced routing)

multiple antispam technologies, antivirus integration and content filtering dynamic webmail interface using AJAX technology

document management, shared document folders advanced calendaring with meeting planning, free/busy search, shared calendars, task lists, resource booking, iCal support

Outlook connector to integrate personal and group calendars, tasks, contacts

SyncML synchronization with Palm, PocketPC, BlackBerry and most mobile phones secure Jabber instant messaging with integrated web client integrated authentication and account import with Active Directory and LDAP servers runs on Windows, Linux, Unix, Mac OS X

Desktop-like web interface

View personal and company calendars combined

Compose rich text emails and attach remote files

Interactive meeting planning with free/busy search

Who uses it?

DeskNow is currently used in thousands of organizations worldwide, including UN, US Army, AT&T, BlockBuster, IKEA, Deutsche Post, Universities, Colleges and small businesses.

Find out more

For more information, detailed features, a live demo, and to download a fully featured evaluation version, visit us at <http://www.desknow.com>

